

The Story Behind Clip Art Graphics

As a classroom teacher I had purchased a number of clip art books for creating teaching lessons. These books were reproducible for use in a single classroom, but the graphics could not be resold as clipart. I wanted to provide cartoon graphics in my own books which teachers or parents could photocopy for use with story writing or for making posters in their classrooms. I also wanted some graphics to use for illustrations in my books. At the time, one of our nieces turned out to be a budding artist and was delighted to get a part-time job. We paid her seven dollars per graphic and she drew these wonderful cartoons which are now offered here as a free pdf download.
